Developmental Questions and Observations

You may use the following screening list, or an age appropriate standardized developmental instrument or screening tool.

Ask the patient to respond to the following statements:

Yes No

 Please tell me any questions or concerns you have today:

- I eat breakfast everyday.
 - I am happy with how I am doing in school and/or at work.
 - I have one or more close friends.
 - I feel rested when I wake up.
 - I participate in at least one activity and/or interest other than school and work.
 - I do things with my family.
 - I feel good about my friends and school.
 - I know what to do when I feel angry, stressed or frustrated.
 - I have someone I can talk to.
 - I have questions about sexuality.
 - I get some physical activity every day.
 - I sometimes feel really down and depressed.
 - I sometimes feel very nervous.

If the parent is present, ask the parent to respond to the following statements:

- I am proud of my child.
- I talk to my child about alcohol, drugs, and smoking.
- My child's school work matches his/her future goals.
- My child's school work matches my future goals for him/her.
- I talk to my child about sexuality and our family's values regarding sex.
- I monitor my child's activities and social life.

Please note: Formal developmental examinations are recommended when surveillance suggests a delay or abnormality, especially when the opportunity for continuing observation is not anticipated. (Bright Futures: Guidelines for Health Supervision of Infants, Children, and Adolescents)

My Health at 15 - 20 Years

Milestones

Your development between 15 and 20 years of age.

- You will keep making more decisions for yourself, plan for your life after high school, and discover new skills and talents.
- This can be an exciting time for you but also can be very emotional. This is part of the growing process. You can learn to manage stress or anger by taking a class with a friend or your parents.
- Teens face many tough choices and may feel more pressures to make the wrong choice. This is an important time to talk to friends, parents, family members and trusted teachers to help you learn to make the right choices.

Health Tips:

Talk with your doctor at each visit about your health and learn what to do when you have a cold, an earache, or the flu. You should have regular health, vision and dental check-ups.

You need at least 8 hours of sleep each night to do your best at school, work or when driving.

A healthy diet is important. You need certain foods to help you grow during your teen years. If you are worried about your weight, check with your doctor. Diet for weight loss should be done only with a doctor or nurse's help. Exercise, healthy foods and fewer snacks are the best way to lose weight. Make a goal to be physically active at least 60 minutes each day. It doesn't have to be all at once. Find activities that you enjoy.

Learn about sexuality, abstinence, sexually transmitted infections and birth control. Be sure you know how and why to say "NO" to sex. Talk to your parents, doctor, nurse or adult advisor about making sexual decisions.

Everyone feels depressed sometimes. It can be serious so see your doctor or find a counselor if you, or someone you know has several of the following signs for more than two weeks:

- Depressed/irritable mood most of the day, nearly every day
- Loss of interest or pleasure in usual activities
- Noticeable change in appetite or weight (when not dieting or trying to gain weight)
- Trouble sleeping or sleeping too much
- Speaking and/or moving with unusual speed or slowness
- Fatigue or loss of energy nearly every day
- Feelings of worthlessness or excessive guilt
- Decreased ability to think or concentrate, or unable to make decisions, nearly every day
- Thoughts of death, suicide, wishes to be dead or suicide attempts
- Abusing drugs, alcohol or other substances

Safety Tips

Use safety equipment, helmets, pads and seat belts.

Driving is most risky for teenagers when they have other teens in the car. You and your parents should agree on clear rules about driving, especially with your friends.

Never drive drunk or ride with anyone who has been drinking. Remember, "Friends don't let friends drive drunk." They also don't let friends ride with a drunk.

Learn gun safety. Never play around with guns. If there are guns or rifles in your home, make sure they are unloaded and locked up.
