

Member Renewal Date in Availity (Medicaid)

Now that the Apple Health (Medicaid) extension due to the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2023, Washington state reinstated its Eligibility Review (ER) process on April 1, 2023. This means that redetermination efforts have resumed, including requiring annual proof of eligibility starting with individuals with a renewal/redetermination date of 5/31/2023.

The state of Washington will spend the next 12 months redetermining clients' eligibility for Apple Health based on each individual client's renewal date. All Medicaid members must renew their benefits so they don't lose their health coverage. If clients do not take action to respond to required outreach, Apple Health coverage will be terminated.

For clients who are terminated:

- Apple Health MAGI clients can still submit their renewal information; if they do so and are found to be eligible within 90 days of the termination date, they will be retroactively reinstated from the termination date. The fastest way to renew lost coverage is to go online or call (855) 923-4633.
- Apple Health Classic Medicaid clients can reapply after their coverage is terminated, and DSHS will review the information to see if the client is eligible. Clients may reapply at that time.

All Clients have the right to appeal a decision. All clients who are terminated will receive a termination notice in the mail, which includes instructions on how to appeal the decision.
