Provider Enrollment Revalidation Extensions to End on February 28, 2022

Background:

Federal law requires all providers to revalidate their Medicaid enrollment at least every five years. However, due to the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) provided extensions to the revalidation date. Provider enrollment revalidation extensions will end on February 28, 2022.

Key Details:

Providers with original revalidation dates between March 1, 2020, and February 28, 2022, will be given a new enrollment end-date based on the provider's original due date and screen risk category. New revalidation dates will be staggered at the end of the public health emergency to avoid enrollment delays. TMHP will notify providers in January 2022 of their new enrollment end date, and again 120-days prior to their new enrollment end date.

Providers are strongly encouraged to avoid potential enrollment delays by submitting revalidation applications immediately. The ability to submit a revalidation application is currently open to all providers who wish to begin the process.
